DRAG WOLF RIVER FOR SHIOCTON MAN

FIND CAP AND SPOT OF BLOOD ON RAIL BRIDGE

Herman Freimuth Disappears After He Cashes $180 Milk Check

MAY USE DYNAMITE

Neighbors Think Aged Man Has Gone to Visit Relatives

A cap and a small spot which appears to be blood, found on the abutment of the railroad bridge near Shiocton, are the only clues to the disappearance of Herman Freimuth, about 60, a farmer living about three miles southwest of Shiocton.

The missing man was in Shiocton Sunday afternoon and evening, and started for his home between 9 and 10 o'clock. He is known to have cashed a check for about $180 Saturday afternoon. Rumors, which could not be substantiated, state that he was in company of a stranger Sunday.

Monday morning about 9 o'clock the cap was found by searchers and was identified by children of Mr. Freimuth. Shortly after Sheriff Schwartz was notified, authorities and citizens of Shiocton and vicinity began to drag the Wolf river in an effort to recover the body. Work was continued until late Monday evening, but no trace of the missing man had been found.

John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, also was notified of Freimuth's disappearance. Preparations to dynamite the river were made Tuesday morning in the hope of bringing the body to the surface.

Mr. Freimuth has many relatives in this part of the state, including a married daughter in Oshkosh, and might have decided to visit some of these, according to another theory of Shiocton citizens. He might have been offered a ride by a motorist of his acquaintance and had no opportunity to tell his children at home of his sudden decision. It is pointed out by persons who do not believe he was drowned, in view of fruitless efforts to locate the body.

Until Mr. Freimuth or his body is found authorities can take no action other than to continue their vigorous search for the missing man, District Attorney Lonsdorf said.

PILSUDSKI HAS NO NEW GOVERNMENT PROGRAM

Warsaw.—(AP)—It is becoming increasingly clear that Marshal Pilsudski, having unseated the Witos government, is finding difficulty in setting up an effective substitute. Thus far the outstanding element in the new situation is an apparent lack of a definite program.

"There is a definite lack of unity among the Marshal's supporters. Even some of the army officers have expressed disapproval with him and the various political parties are advancing their special interests."

RENT

Economists have written whole volumes on the subject of rent. The average person, though, sums it up in these words: "A periodical payment for the use of property."

The owner of property which he himself does not occupy or otherwise use, always seeks someone who can use it and thus provide the owner with an income.

The easiest way to secure a tenant is to use a Post-Crescent ad.

The following report from Mrs. Will Martin, 902 E. North street, is one of the many instances that bear testimony as to the efficacy of A-B-C ads.

Mrs. Martin wanted a tenant for her five-room cottage, so she placed an ad in the "Houses For Rent" column of the classified.

The first day the ad appeared Mrs. Martin received thirteen calls.—But long before the thirty-ninth response came in the house was rented.

Such a service awaits you after YOU call 543 and ask for an ad-taker.

The start was made from in front of the Soffa Motor Co. garage on W. Harris-st. Mr. Soffa is furnishing the Cleveland for the demonstration which is conducted by the motor company and The Appleton Post-Crescent.

Wants to Admit Reckless Driving, but Hedges on Drunk Charge

E. Timme was fined $50 and costs of $3.50 Tuesday morning after he had pleaded guilty to driving an automobile in the village of Little Chute Monday while he was intoxicated.

Timme was arrested on complaint of James Gerrits. When he appeared in municipal court Timme at first expressed intention of pleading guilty of reckless driving. Judge Theodore Berg told him that he must answer to the charge brought against him, and after some hesitation Timme pleaded guilty, stating that he wanted to avoid further court action.

Arthur McMillan, Crandon, arrested Monday in Hortonville for driving an automobile while intoxicated, pleaded not guilty in municipal court Tuesday. His case was set for June 3, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

WHITE HOUSE AIDES BATTLE FOR PEPPER

G. O. P. Leadership at Stake in State-wide Primary

Philadelphia, Pa.—(AP)—One of the greatest political battles in the history of Pennsylvania was being fought at the polls Tuesday.

Not since the death of Senator Boies Penrose five years ago brought his leadership to an end has the Republican party been so rent by factional differences.

THREE WANT G. O. P. TOGA

Opponents in the Republican senatorial race were Senator George Wharton Pepper in whose interest two members of President Coolidge's cabinet, Secretaries Mellon and Davis, spoke during the campaign; Congressman William S. Vare, leader of the Philadelphia Republican organization who conducted his campaign on a "wet" platform; and Governor Gifford Pinchot, a dry candidate. Assembling that modification of the Volstead law was the principal issue of the campaign Congressman Vare maintained that if he was victorious a Republican congress in 1928 would follow Volsteadism and demanding beer and wine.

Senator Pepper said Vare was using the liquor issue as a smoke screen in an effort to obtain control of the state organization. The senator announced that he was for law enforcement and no change in the federal law.

Governor Pinchot told the voters there were only two great issues at stake in the fight. "One," he said, "is the wet and dry issue; the other is the gang and anti-gang issue."

"On the first, we have a wet candidate Vare. You have a dry candidate Pinchot. Then you have a third candidate who is neither wet nor dry, but jump damp, and that is Pepper."

LEVITAN OUT FOR TREASURER

Incumbent Says He Will Base Campaign on His Record

Madison.—(AP)—State Treasurer Solomon Levitan in a few words Tuesday announced his candidacy for re-nomination.

"I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer on my record of service given the savings I have made and the efficient business like administration I have given to this office," he stated. "I shall continue my present policy of giving good service to the public," he added.

He explained that the savings he mentioned were those resulting from economy and efficiency which he inaugurated in his first term "and has carried forward ever since, cutting out unnecessary red tape and saving Wisconsin tax payers thousands of dollars through establishing like methods." In the administration of his office.

The announcement of Mr. Levitan concludes those of the candidates for state office whose names were unofficially reported on the Blaine-Eckern-LaFollette ticket. Attorney General Herman L. Ekern has announced his candidacy for governor, Lieutenant Governor Henry A. Huber for re-nomination, John Reynolds, Green Bay for attorney general and Theodore Damman, Milwaukee, for secretary of state. Governor John J. Blaine has not yet announced his candidacy for re-election as United States senator, but it is expected to be forthcoming soon.

Thus far, State Treasurer Levitan has no announced opposition for his job.

POLITICS AND MONEY RULE IN STATE PRISON

Illinois Warden Testifies That Prisoners Buy Paroles

Chicago.—(AP)—The Chicago-Tribune Monday published statements attributed to John L. Whitman, warden of the State Penitentiary in his testimony before the special grand jury here Monday that it was common talk among the prisoners that money or political influence only would get them out of prison.

In these statements the warden was quoted as relating specific instances, in one of which a convict escaped over the prison wall, leaving a note in his cell stating that he had given $600 to a certain man who had promised to obtain a parole for him.

NO DISCIPLINE IN PRISON

"I'm being double-crossed," he wrote. "I'm not getting out. I want to go down and see the governor and find out why my case was not considered. As soon as I do that I'm coming back." And that man came back to prison, Warden Whitman said, and strangely enough the convict was mistaken, for his case had been favorably passed upon by the parole board.

In another instance, the warden said, a convict told him that he had been honest during his incarceration, had "played the game square," as he put it, but had found that did him no good, so he had raised $400. Soon thereafter the man was paroled, the warden was quoted as saying.

Warden Whitman was quoted as saying that Peter Klein, the deputy warden who was slain by seven escaping convicts on May 5, in the new prison, had been discharged a number of years ago by former Warden Murphy. Whitman said he protested against the man's reappointment. Discipline recently had completely broken down in the new prison where Klein held sway the warden said.

Warden Whitman also was quoted as saying that the parole board ignored his presence and advice at meetings of the board that he was never consulted as to the guard's actions, and that his presence at the board meetings appeared to be objected too.

JACK PICKFORD AND MARILYNN MILLER PLAN TO LIVE APART

Hollywood, Calif.—(AP)—Jack Pickford, motion picture actor and brother of Mary, and his wife, Marilyn Miller, the actress, believe they will be happier if they live apart so they are going to try it.

There will be no divorce and no legal separation, Mr. Pickford said Monday night.

"We mutually agreed to separate," the screen actor said. "I saw Marilyn in New York recently and had dinner with her. We came to an agreement to live separately."

There are no hard feelings and there will be no divorce or legal separation as far as I know," Pickford arrived here from New York Saturday and Sunday gave a house warming for motion picture friends.

CAL BUT HINTS AT FAVORITES IN CAMPAIGNS

President Balks at Supporting Favored Candidates Openly in Primaries

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington.—How much attention do the people—particularly those who vote—pay to a hint from the White House? The hint is all they get in the primary campaigns this year and it's on a hint that President Coolidge bases his hopes for a reconstitution of the senate and house with supporters of his administration.

The first hint came in Illinois when the administration sent Secretary Hoover to make a speech during the campaign of Senator McKinley. But Illinois didn't take the hint.

The second hint came a few days ago when Secretary Mellon went to Pittsburgh and delivered a speech in support of Senator Pepper who is having a hard fight to win in the Tuesday primaries against Representative William Vare.

STICKNEY TO OPPOSE DALE

And the third hint came Tuesday with the announcement that former Governor Stickney of Vermont—a law partner of Attorney-General Sargent and the lawyer entrusted by the president with the arrangement of his estate—would be a candidate against Senator Dale who has alienated the political affections of the White House by voting to override the president's veto on the bonus and sundry other things.

Mr. Stickney speaks of his reluctance to enter the senatorial contest and states that he is doing so only because he wants Mr. Coolidge upheld in the state of Vermont.

In all three cases, the president himself has not spoken. He has known of the plans of his cabinet and he knew of the plans of former Governor Stickney. But he has not come out openly and asked for public support. His belief is that the people are wise enough to take a hint.

The danger of a direct statement, of course, is that if perchance the administration's candidates do not win the result will be hailed, as it was in Illinois, a repudiation of Mr. Coolidge. And that would not be politically profitable even though 1928 is somewhat distant, and the pendulum of popularity can swing backward and forward many times 'twixt now and then.

COOLIDGE FAVORS PEPPER

Mr. Pepper is liked by the president. He has no particular opposition to Mr. Vare who is a powerful political factor in Pennsylvania, but he would rather see Senator Pepper re-elected.

If Mr. Vare wins, the dries will answer that Pennsylvania is a wet state anyhow and that the vote of the dries was unfortunately divided between two candidates. The wets would proclaim it as the turning of the tide toward moderation of the Volstead act. If other Senator Pepper or Governor Pinchot should win, will be viewed as a great achievement for the cause of prohibition.

WOULD LIMIT LEAGUE POWER AT ARMS MEET

U. S. Wants Commission to Have Deciding Vote in Limiting War Equipage

20 NATIONS REPRESENTED

Russia Angered by Swiss, Refuses to Send Delegate

Geneva.—(AP)—The preparatory commission on disarmament, at a private session Tuesday took steps to prevent the conference from becoming a purely league of nations affair.

With a view to meeting the American attitude toward the conference, Viscount Cecil, the British delegate, moved that two sub-committees of the commission be appointed to which all states are entitled to name representatives. One of these committees will handle military, naval and air problems and the other will handle the general economic problem. The original plan of the league council was to turn over detailed disarmament studies to league bodies to which non-league countries, such as the United States, would be entitled to send representatives.

The United States, however, informed the league that, when it accepted the invitation to the conference, it did not accept any plan which virtually would take matters out of the hands of the preparatory commission.

Tuesday's action it felt to emphasize the sovereign character of the commission and that when the commission is not in session, its problems will be in the hands of its own sub-committee and not in the hands of the league bodies.

BOARD ELECTS PRESIDENT

John H. Lounsbury, former foreign minister of the Netherlands was elected president of the commission.

It is asserted in some quarters that during the conference Count Von Bernstorff will request that Germany be permitted to waive the military restrictions of the treaty of Versailles and be allowed strength of armament such as her position warrants, providing her neighbors, particularly France, refuse to decrease their armaments so that they will be reasonably proportionate to those of Germany.

Delegates from 20 countries are represented on the commission. Russia refused to attend because Switzerland declined to give ample apology for the assassination of her representative at Lausanne M. Vorovsky.

The attitude of Russia, it is thought, will cause some of her members, particularly Poland to disband. Marshal Pilsudski, who recently carried out a successful coup against the old government is desirous of maintaining an army of effective fighting strength.

Because of the Russo-German treaty, France and her allies are said to be fearful that should another European conflict develop, the Germans might side with Russia. They therefore think some form of European security than that provided by the Locarno pacts must be arranged before any considerable lessening of defensive forces can be thought of.

MANAGER GOVERNMENT AT STAKE IN KENOSHA

Kenosha, Wis.—(AP)—Thursday, June 17th, was the date set by the city council of Kenosha Monday evening for a special election to determine whether Kenosha will continue under the city manager form of government or revert to the aldermanic form. The election, without discussion, granted a petition signed by 450 voters asking for the special election. The law stipulates that such a petition must be signed by not less than 10 per cent of the voters or 2,200 for Kenosha.

The law also stipulates that the election must be called not less than 30 days or more than 60 days from the time of the receiving of the petition. The council set it at the earliest possible date, 31 days after the receiving of the petition.

Young Student Develops Into Good Oboe Player

Appleton's 120th Field Artillery band is proving itself a great help factor to the community not only by the splendid free concert programs which are given from time to time but also because of the fine opportunity it offers aspiring young musicians to improve and perfect the playing of some musical instrument. Thus latter service of interesting young men in a musical career is perhaps best borne out by the case of Wilder E. Schmalz, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schmalz, 319 N. Drew st. who since becoming a member of the band in January, has achieved remarkable success with the oboe, the most difficult of all musical instruments.

Schmalz, who is a junior in Appleton high school, formerly played a clarinet in the high school band. At the beginning of this year Edward F. Mumme, conductor of the Artillery band, induced the boy to begin the study of the oboe as a musician who could play this instrument was needed in the organization. The young man has had phenomenal success with this difficult instrument and has accomplished in four months time what would take the average oboe player two or three years to achieve, according to Mr. Mumme.

WILDER SCHMALZ

RESEMBLES CLARINET
The oboe is a double reed instrument somewhat resembling the clarinet. The reeds are extremely small and delicate and are made from a special quality of bamboo wood. The instrument is the soprano or treble member of the wood reed family, oboe instruments of this type being the clarinet and bassoon. A bassoon also is somewhat similar to the oboe except that it has only one reed and is pitched lower. A clarinet also is a single reed instrument.

Perfect breath control and equally perfect control of the facial muscles are necessary in playing the oboe. These are the principal reasons why the instrument is so difficult. The player cannot rest the oboe against his teeth, as is the case in most other musical instruments as the reed is far too delicate to be set in contact with such a hard surface while it is in vibration. The player must keep the reed placed lightly between his lips as he plays difficult selections. The tones are regulated partly by the amount of air blown through the reeds and the oboist must be extremely careful in releasing only a small current of air as the correct tones are produced only by a slight air current. This minute and exacting breath control naturally calls for equally steady control of the facial muscles.

ORIGIN IS OBSCURE
The origin of the oboe in musical history is rather obscure as primitive instruments with a conical bore and double reed mouthpiece, somewhat similar to the modern oboe were known in Asia and the far east in the early Middle Ages. The first appearance of an instrument called an oboe was in a musical work of Sebastian Virdone in the year 1511 in Germany. The oboe much the same as it is today, was used for the first time in 1671 in the Paris opera. It is doubtful whether there are more than three really good oboe players in Milwaukee or more than 12 in Chicago according to members of the local artillery band. The fact that Schmalz took a somewhat imperfect instrument with poor reeds and has been able to produce mellow and harmonious tones with it is considered especially remarkable. He plays arias and solos from various operas and is able to render selections from the simpler compositions with a marked degree of skill.

LAWRENCE DRAMA CLUB CALLS OFF STUNT NIGHT

"The Last Resort," a campus stunt night of original acts which was to be given by Tormenters, Lawrence dramatic organization on Tuesday night, May 18, has been called off by the club. Several acts had already been entered for the occasion but sufficient interest was not forthcoming and only a few tickets were sold.

The organization planned the stunt night to take the place of their annual play.

The club plans to attempt a similar project next year provided sufficient interest can be created through a longer period of preparation and intensive advertising.

Louis Harris of Milwaukee was an Appleton business caller Monday.

Members of these committees will choose student assistants. The publicity committee consists of Evelyn Broderick and Warren Wright. The program committee includes Dorothy Vestal, John McVuliffe and Robert Grant while the booths and stands committee is composed of Ruth Saekler, Catherine Spence and Harry Cameron.

Proceeds from this year's field day will go toward defraying the expense of publishing the Clavon annual. Money will be raised from the sale of tags to students during the week and from refreshment stands and novelty booths at the park.

BLAINE AND THE VIGILANTES

Madison dispatches state that Governor Blaine has started an investigation of the vigilante organization being formed by banking interests. It is stated the governor is opposed to the vigilantes and that he is expected to issue an attack on this move of the bankers for better protection. Mr. Blaine is quoted as holding that the existing law enforcing agencies of the state can control crime and that there is no need for citizens to cooperate.

The governor's position, if it is correctly stated, opens up the broad question of law enforcement and what recourse law-abiding citizens and property owners are to have against criminals when the local or state authorities fail to do their duty. Lapse in law enforcement was one of the prime causes of the organization of the Ku Klux Klan. It is responsible for the formation of vigilantes and other bodies to enforce law which the constituted authorities refuse or fail to enforce.

The Post-Crescent does not believe in organizations like the Ku Klux Klan or other secret agencies of pretended law enforcement. Experience has shown that they are apt to and do degenerate into bands that terrorize and intimidate, and that violate the liberties and security of citizens. However, we think there is a distinction where these organizations are not secret, such as that proposed by the bankers. If the government fails to protect their property and they are unreasonably exposed to robbery and holdups, they have a clear constitutional right to defend themselves.

As a matter of fact, everyone knows that certain laws in Wisconsin, as in many other states, are weakly or indifferently enforced. To go another step, there is no enforcement of prohibition in Wisconsin. The state refuses to cooperate with the federal government in enforcing a constitutional amendment and legislation that are the supreme law of the land. Those people in Wisconsin who believe in prohibition or who believe in law enforcement as a matter of principle have a right to demand of the state government the fulfillment of a plain political obligation. Yet the governor and the state legislature refuse them this right. What are citizens to do where their rights are denied or ignored?

There are thousands of persons in Wisconsin to whom enforcement of the prohibition law means quite as much in principle as enforcement of the law against murder or robbery or any other crime. Yet they have no recourse. If merchants have no protection against robbers, or banks have inadequate protection against handits, what are they to do? Are they to timidly submit to incompetent enforcement officers and to a brand of politics that deliberately conspires to refuse them protection? There is plenty of that kind of politics in Wisconsin. There is some of it right here in Outagamie county and has been for years.

It is no defense to calmly sit and assert that the constituted authorities are sufficient to give security to life and property when that security is not given. That is what the authorities of Illinois asserted when the Herrin massacre occurred, and it is what the mayor of Chicago contended before a senate committee in Washington, and yet no sooner were the words out of his mouth than citizens and even officers of the government were murdered. We have a condition of politics in Wisconsin which anesthetizes the law and enforcing officers where it pays political ly or commercially to make them important. Clearly Governor Blaine has opened up a large subject when he attempts to resist the efforts of the banks to obtain protection they are entitled to and do not receive. And the prohibition-ists have an equal right to demand law enforcement and to organize to compel it.

ANOTHER DICTATORSHIP

Poland is the latest of the war burdened and politically perplexed nations of Europe to set up a dictatorship. The revolt led by Marshal Pilsudski culminated so suddenly and successfully that few people realized a revolution was in progress. Moreover, the precise causes of the coup were obscure, as well as the ends sought.

In reality Poland's troubles appear to be economic rather than political. It has been a difficult task to reasonable, after a century and a quarter of bondage, a heterogeneous people such as make up the population of Poland into a national entity. Poland was evolved as a republic by the great powers out of weak timber.
She was heavily involved financially and without conspicuous leadership. It is not easy to perfect a republic anywhere in Europe, and with an inadequate treasury and crop failures, the burdens of the people have become severe. They have had to undergo drastic deflation, while industry is depressed, unemployment is extensive, and the budget has shown a deficit notwithstanding heavy taxation. As a war impoverished nation, she has been in much the same predicament economically as Austria. She has lacked the means within herself to re-establish solvency and a degree of prosperity that would create contentment.

Added to these troubles has been the constant fear of insecurity against outside aggressions. Poland has lived in apprehension of her neighbors, and she has had grave misgivings as to the future policies of Germany and Russia toward her.
All this has doubtless contributed to social and political unrest, coupled with a desire to obtain a settled state of affairs and guarantees impossible of realization either by constitutional government or by a dictatorship. None of Poland's basic economic or political problems are likely to be solved by a change in government.
They are beyond a solution of this character. The new military dictator will be confronted by the same troubles as was the lawfully elected president he has ousted.

What the change will lead to no one can say. If the nation's financial ailments are cured it will necessarily mean heavier taxation and more sacrifices by the people. This will not contribute to the popularity of the dictatorship. All Europe is interested in the fate of Poland,
and it is not impossible that the complications within this new state may lead to complications without.

TODAY'S POEM
By HAL COCHRAN

It's really uncanny how coats get his nappy, just shirt sleeves are better says he. And brushes and combs were not made for men's domes 'cause they're feminine-like as can be.
His tie may be tied in the regular place, but it's never a thought that he gives it. His styles have a real independent-like trace. It's HIS life—so he honestly lives it.

never bother this fellow at all. He wears what he

from the pressure of belts he is free just another

Yep, he does as he likes and it's comfort he gets.
And he slaves of mere fashion he's freed. His outward appearance may be one that frets, but at least he is honest inside.

CHAUNCEY MITCHELL DEPEW

The country celebrated the other day the ninety-second birthday anniversary of the most popular living citizen, Chauncey Mitchell Depew.
Mr. Depew wants to live to be 100 and everybody else is rooting for him to attain that ambition.
I haven't examined him, but from all I can learn about the man I should say he runs an excellent chance of rounding out a century in fine fettle. It is only the good who die young.

Speaking to a group of newspaper men on his birthday, Mr. Depew expressed some sentiments about the thing and another, in fact about a score of current topics, and when we consider the queer or quaint views of most garrulous old chaps of 60 or 70 the principles and beliefs expressed by this nonagenarian become truly remarkable. Old age is a state of mind.

Metchnikoff, who had some ambitions and a most plausible method or system, failed to attain even the ordinary three score and ten. Metchnikoff went in for facts.

Depew, at 92 and going strong, says he has one rule in life—moderation. That's a long sermon.

When Chauncey Depew was 50 he gave up red meat, because, he says, it gave him rheumatism.
That's another sermon.

One can't give up red meat without passing up a certain number of chances to overeat. Giving up red meat is almost as positive a way of moderating
the eating business as giving up starches or sugars is. It requires character to give up any kind of food.

Ten years ago Mr. Depew gave up tea. Well, that is no sermon. And a year or two ago he gave up coffee. But he has always liked champagne. That's a sermon.

There is a story about Doctor Osler, though it is not in Cushing's Life of Osler. It seems that the doctor once advised his aged mother to take a little wine, but the good woman said "No, no, Willie, I am afraid I'd get the habit."

Chauncey M. Depew has given up champagne, since Christmas. He has not yet given up making speeches.

Moderation in all things, Mr. Depew has married only twice thus far. He says every man should marry at least once if he can support a wife. If a man can't support a wife he should live a life of celibacy.

It has always been Mr. Depew's endeavor to maintain a placid and serene state of mind, and to that and his sense of humor he is inclined to attribute his long, happy life.

It is a curious fact that the mortality rate among convicted murderers in this country is lower than the mortality rate among after dinner speakers.
Let us hope that we may live to hear Chauncey Depew deliver a good after dinner speech on his centenary. If experience is a good teacher he ought to give us a sermon by then.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Stop Signal.

I noticed a formula in your column for red nose.
My nose is always red except when I apply peroxide
vanishing cream, which I fear may grow hair on the skin. Doctor, if you know any remedy and have a heart, please share it with me. It makes me sick always to have a red nose, and it is always shiny too. (S. M.)

Answer—I can assure you that no cosmetic application will grow hair on the skin. The shiny appearance may be prevented by gently mopping the skin once or twice daily with a pledget of absorbent cotton, moistened with a solution of 10 grains of resorcin in an ounce of witch hazel or toilet water or alcohol. For the redness dab on the nose at bed time some of the following mixture (which should be agitated), let it dry on, and wash it off in the morning:

Zinc sulphate one dram
Potassium sulphurated one dram
Stronger rose water four ounces
This is called "white lotion." It is well to omit its use for a night or two, or for a week or two, whenever the skin seems irritated by it.

LOOKING BACKWARD

25 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, May 21, 1901

Mrs. W. B. Murphy entertained a number of friends at her home on College-ave that afternoon in honor of her guest Mrs. J. W. Cameron of Milwaukee.

A marriage license was issued the previous day to George Lang of Milwaukee and Mary Sinandl of Appleton.

F. J. Sands, baggage man at the Northwestern depot, saved a reckless lad from possible death the previous day. The boy was hanging by his hands from the end of a freight car with his legs dragging between the rails and other cars following. He had but sufficient strength in his arms to pull himself up onto the car and in a moment would have fallen under the cars if Mr. Sands had not rescued him.
The marriage of Dudley Ryan and Miss Jessie F.
McGregor took place that night at the home of Frank E. Wright.

Charles Hoeffer of Chicago, a former Appleton boy who had been associated with his brother Jack Hoeffer in the management of several theatrical enterprises, was in the city to assist in the canvass for the new opera house which was to be built.

A. N. Hatherall of Oshkosh had been engaged to succeed J. F. Wilson as principal of the Fourth ward school.

Work was begun that morning on tearing out the old high platform at the Appleton Junction station. They were to be replaced with a new platform raised about 8 inches above the rails.

guests at a fine Monday party at the Randolph home the previous day. Mrs. Zepherin and Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thelan to Albert Ness took place that morning at St. Joseph church.

terurban companies are using busses
in conjunction with their services.

Q. How many kinds of sequoias are there? E. C. K.

A. The sequoia is a genus of conif-both in California. They are the big tree and the redwood. The former is the largest American forest tree

and one of the largest in the world.
The average height of the trees is said to be 275 feet, although specimens exceeding 320 feet, with a trunk diam-

have been measured.

Q. How much ground must be devoted to cemeteries in cities in proportion to the population? L. M. G.

A. If 4000 corpses are crowded into per 1000 be assumed, then nearly four acres per 1,000,000 population are required annually to bury the dead.

Q. Is the cottonmouth a moccasin or a copperhead? C. K.

A. Cottonmouth is a common name in the southern States for the moc-

to the copperhead.

Q. What degree of heat is attained by acetylene cutting and welding torches? A. L.

A. The oxy-acetylene flame is cap-

the neighborhood of 6000 degrees F.,
the highest temperature that is produced outside of the electric arc. The
lished.

Q. Where is Major Andre buried?
S. T. J.

A. Major Andre was originally buried at Tappan, N. Y., where he was

In 1831 his remains were taken up and reburied near a monument which had been erected to his memory in Westminster Abbey, London, England.

INVENTS DEVICE
FOR DECREASING
CAR ACCIDENTS

Washington Man Carries Light on Front of Car to Direct Others

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—A young man of Washington believes that he has solved the problem of street intersection accidents. At least he thinks that he has invented a device which if generally adopted will do away with much of the indecision displayed by drivers crossing a street intersection at the same time. It has been estimated that over half of the automobile accidents
during the year 1925 occurred at street crossings.

J. W. Cooper says that several years ago he wondered why someone didn't invent something whereby a driver might indicate to one coming from a cross street just what his intention were. Of course during the day it is possible to signal the other driver to go ahead by waving the hand. At night, however, this is not feasible.

Who has not seen two motorists either rush ahead, each thinking the other will stop, and finally crash, or both stop and stage an Alphonse and Gaston.

Mr. Cooper eventually became discouraged with the idea that someone else would conceive some device to do away with this street crossing annoyance and danger, and decided to undertake it himself.

That was nearly three years ago and since that time he has given the matter more or less thought. This winter he decides seriously to work on the idea and the result is a signaling device which may be used on the front of the car.

The device consists of either a disc or cylinder which may be made of some nickel-plated metal. It is, of course, against the law to have any light showing on the front of a car other than the headlights. Therefore, the lights used on this signaling device must show only from the sides.

There is a red light which burns constantly while the car is in normal motion. A car coming from the east or west, meeting one coming from the north or south, would of course stop when the driver saw the latter's red light burning. There could be no possible doubt in his mind as to what the other driver intended doing.

MISTAKE NOT POSSIBLE

As soon as the driver applies his brakes and pushes out his clutch, the red light automatically goes off and a green one comes on. The driver coming from the other street then knows that he is safe in going ahead.
Mr. Cooper says that the change is instantaneous with the slowing down of the car so that there could be no possible misunderstanding of the driver's intention.

Under the first patent taken out,
this signaling device was operated mechanically. That is, there was revolving cylinder which showed the red light while the car was running,
and when slowing down this went out of sight and the green one came into view. Under the second patent it is operated electrically, the red light being automatically switched off when the green one comes on.

While Mr. Cooper's invention has not yet been placed on the market, he has been using a model on his car for several months and it has operated without a hitch. It has created considerable interest among automobile drivers of Washington, and has been termed an excellent idea by traffic experts.

As Albe Martin once said, "One good story brings on another," so apparently he does one idea bring on another. In the first place Mr. Cooper has felt that the logical place for such a device as his would be on the radiator, which position on most cars is occupied by the motorometer. The importance of a motorometer is generally acknowledged, and therefore it is extremely unlikely that the public would even consider anything which would necessitate doing away with it.

Thus was a problem raised, the only solution of which appeared to be a combination of motorometer and light signal. If any of the motorometers now patented were used, it would necessitate the payment of royalties to the owners of the patents. In turn this would probably mean that the new device must sell at a higher price.
Altogether the inventor was not inclined to include someone else's idea with his if it could possibly be avoided. The only thing to be done was to work out an entirely new one.

GOOD HEALTH NECESSARY

Many Busy Women Owe Their Health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught school, some did housework, some found work to do at home and a few took up nursing.

Today there are many occupations not open to women. Today they work in great factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives and legislators. But all too often a woman wins her economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unionall factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 500 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it. SEEKS MEANS TO COMBAT DISEASES OF LIVESTOCK

SCIENTISTS WILL STUDY PARASITE IN TROPIC LAND

Invading Bugs and Worms May Soon Be Met With Exclusion Measures

BY GEORGE BRITT

Washington—The invading bugs and worms which come up periodically from the tropics, to settle among the livestock herds of the United States may expect soon to encounter stern exclusion measures.

The warm, humid belt from the Rio Grande to Brazil has served through centuries as an incubator for parasitic diseases, according to the Department of Agriculture. Now the department is doing something about it. Dr. Maurice C. Hall, chief of the zoological division, bureau of animal industry, will leave shortly to spend the summer in Nicaragua and make a survey of parasitic diseases of livestock.

"Parasitic diseases of animals sweep over the country just as a migration of savage human tribes," says Dr. Hall. "Many of them are brought to us from Mexico and Central America because the natural course of their livestock is northward to our markets."

"In the last 15 years several parasitic diseases, which at first were regarded as purely southern or tropical, have spread all over the United States. These include the nodular worm disease in sheep and the kidney worm in swine."

NOT ALL GO NORTH

"On the other hand, there has been at least one migration southward. It is of the nose bot fly, attacking horses, which has moved within the last few years from the Canadian border to Kansas and Colorado."

Virtually nothing is known with exactness about what parasitic diseases exist in Nicaragua. Dr. Hall intends to find out in order to help the natives eradicate them and to prevent infection spreading northward.

Dr. Hall will go to Nicaragua with Dr. D. M. Molloy of the Rockefeller Foundation, who has had charge of malaria and hookworm work there for the past 10 years. Dr. Hall, in addition to his parasite survey, will act as a consultant on the hookworm treatment. A remedy for hookworm, which he discovered effective on animals about five years ago, has proved equally effective for men, and he is considered an authority on the disease.

SUBJECT OF FIRST TEST

In applying his remedy, carbon tetrachloride, to human use, Dr. Hall first tested it on himself. He swallowed a dose and found it was not fatal. Now nearly 2,000,000 human cases have been treated by his method.

"The work of the parasite survey in Nicaragua naturally will deal mostly with livestock but not exclusively," Dr. Hall says.

"I shall go to the meat shops and abattoirs and examine all the animals I can get my hands on. In addition, I shall examine all the dogs I can. It is remarkable how closely the health of dogs parallels that of human beings in the same community."

TREATING 'EM ROYALLY

By feeding the infertile eggs from his hatchery, R. D. Girard of Tipton, Ind., registers a gain of about two pounds a day for his hogs. With the eggs he feeds a fattening mash.

COUNTY IS FREE OF HOG CHOLERA

No Traces of Disease Have Been Found and No Outbreak Expected

Outagamie-co. has been practically free from hog cholera the past three years, according to Robert Amundson, county agent. No traces of the disease have been found recently, and there has been no indication of a serious outbreak, either in Outagamie-co. or in annual appropriation of $2,500 is made by the state legislature for the purchase of hog cholera serum and virus. The serum used is furnished by the Wisconsin College of Agriculture at cost.

Progress made in combating this disease is attributed to three factors, by Dr. J. T. Purcell of the state department of agriculture, all of which are dependent on increased knowledge as to control, vaccination and the real nature of the disease.

NO HOG CHOLERA

Careful study and experimentation has shown the proper use of the vaccination treatment in infected territory, a treatment which also includes proper care of the animal after vaccination.

Farmers now possess better general knowledge as to the manner in which the disease may enter their herds, according to Dr. Purcell. This knowledge has resulted in an earlier diagnosis of the disease, and the fact is of primary importance if the vaccine treatment is to be of any value in infected herds.

Sanitation, in the broadest sense of the word, is now recognized by the farmers as being all important in the control of animal diseases. By sanitation is meant not only cleaning and disinfection but also proper herd management and careful choice of feed for hogs.

Dr. Purcell also points out that greater care is now being taken in the introduction of newly purchased hogs of unknown origin into healthy herds without a period of isolation or quarantine.

MILK MARKET IN CHICAGO RISKY, SAYS AMUNDSON

Prices Vary Considerably in Different Localities in Wisconsin

At the request of R. A. Amundson, county agent, the Wisconsin Department of Markets is sending out a weekly report of milk prices at Chicago.

"There is a big difference in various localities as to prices farmers are receiving for milk, and it is hoped that by presenting correct information every week pressure may be brought on straighten out these variations," County Agent Amundson declared.

"Nearly all shippers from Outagamie-co. are paying well over 50 cents a pound for butterfat during May for all milk or cream shipped to Chicago. Black Creek Creamery, a farmers' cooperative company, is returning 52 1/2 cents a pound butterfat (for Chicago shipment of milk and cream. This amounts to $2.10 per hundred weight for 4 per cent milk." Mr. Amundson pointed out.

The first report received by Mr. Amundson shows the following prices paid per hundredweight of fluid milk and per pound butterfat. Watertown, 3.5 per cent milk, $2 a hundredweight, 57 cents per pound of fat, with a premium promised at the end of the month; Marshfield, 4 per cent milk, $2.08 a hundred, 52 cents a pound fat; Janesville, 3.5 per cent milk, $2.50 a hundred, 71 cents a pound fat; Clinton, 3.5 per cent milk, $2.50 a hundred, 71 cents a pound fat; Bristol, 3.5 per cent milk, $2.50 a hundred, 71 cents a pound fat.

"At other points the prices paid are only a few cents above cheese factory prices," the report states. "In publishing this table the department calls attention to the unevenness of the prices paid in different localities. This unevenness which is not justified by differences in costs, reveals an unsettled situation in the Chicago fluid milk market that sooner or later must readjust itself."

FLAX SHOULD BE ONE OF STATE'S BIG CROPS

Madison—(P)—Flax should be one of Wisconsin's permanent minor crops. A. H. Wright, of the University of Wisconsin's college of agriculture, declared.

Grown for its seed, it fills the need of Wisconsin for a cash crop which will not require special machinery or equipment, which can be grown without a large investment in labor and which will fit into the general cropping system, he declares.

The average value of flax in Wisconsin last year was $31.19 per acre, as compared with $27.37 for wheat, $24.29 for barley, $18.43 for oats, and $12.46 for buckwheat. The average acre yield is higher than in any other state growing the crop, varying from 10.5 to 13.8 bushels during the last five years.

LIVESTOCK MEN WILL ATTEMPT BETTER SALES

Dealers Will Meet at Appleton June 5 in Annual County Convention

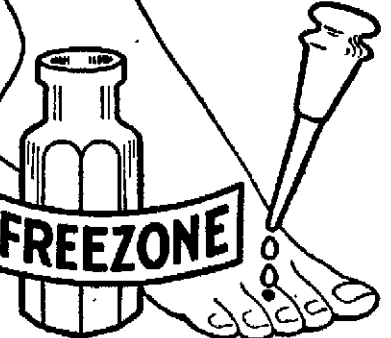

Plans to facilitate sales of better grade and purchased cattle which are being offered for disposal to outside buyers are being made by various livestock shipping associations in Outagamie-co., according to Robert Amundson, county agent.

At present only cattle and other livestock destined for the meat market are being sold through livestock associations of the county, Mr. Amundson said. An arrangement probably will be made whereby productive cattle from dairy herds can be sold to buyers from this and other states at central places, or at county disposal sales fostered by the shipping associations, he indicated.

A committee is completing arrangements and will report to the annual county convention of livestock dealers which will be held in Appleton on June 5. Members of the committee are George Weithing, Black Creek; Benjamin Hartzheim, Kaukauna; Emil Mueller, route 1, Seymour; Earl Gosse, Black Creek; Harry Leppa, route 2, Appleton; Walter Weickert, route 4, Appleton; Emil Mueller, route 1, Seymour.

Men Who Build for Others Use Flax-li-num

I have been building fine homes for fifteen years and I am convinced that Flax-li-num is the best insulating material that I have been able to purchase regardless of price.

I am using Flax-li-num exclusively. My decision was made upon this material after a thorough investigation of all materials.

B. L. Simons,
Building Contractor,
Indianapolis, Ind.

MEN who build houses—who know building construction—use and recommend the use of Flax-li-num as the best building insulation it is possible to buy, regardless of price.

For these men know the great waste which is represented by the heat that is lost through the walls and roofs of the uninsulated house. And they know how effectively Flax-li-num stops the waste.

One-half inch Flax-li-num, placed in between the side wall studding and a full inch in the top floor ceiling or roof of the home you plan to build, will make your house easier to heat, with from 25% to 33 1/3% less fuel. It will keep out the heat of the sun in summer; every room will be cooler. Flax-li-num is semi-rigid in form and always stays in place.

COUNCIL ORDERS
M'CARTY TO NAB
BUS CHAUFFEURSMust Get Permits or Go to Court, Aldermen Tell Police Chief

Kaukauna—Instructions to Chief Richard McCarly of the police department to warn drivers of American Coach line busses that they will be arrested unless city of Kaukauna licenses are secured were voted by the common council at an adjourned meeting Monday night.

The American Coach Line operates busses from Milwaukee to Green Bay on highway No. 13 through Kaukauna and so far they have not taken out licenses required by city ordinance. All of the other bus lines passing through the city have secured permits. The fee is $25 for the first bus and $1 for each additional bus.

Alderman Copp explained to the council that Miss Helen Grant, who was appointed city nurse, could not accept the position because she did not have the required health course. Miss Bean, a nurse from the Bellu Memorial hospital at Green Bay, could not accept the position for the same reason. Mr. Copp said he understood a local woman was about to finish her work in a southern city and that he would try to secure her.

A discussion of oiling streets was brought up by Alderman Wigger. He said he believed the No. 4 oil used other years is too heavy and he moved that the city clerk be instructed to advertise for bids for two tanks of 8,000 gallons each of No. 3 oil, which is a lighter grade.

Before a vote was taken on the motion several aldermen objected to the use of oil, declaring it was dirty and a nuisance and finally Alderman Wiggers withdrew his motion and it was agreed that the city clerk should get in touch with a company manufacturing settling chemicals.

Alderman Conner told the council that he believed the city teamsters were underpaid and he moved that they be paid a salary of $125 hereafter. At present the teamsters are getting $100 a month. Alderman Wiggers said he believed the raise was too much and that they should be paid $110 a month. This started a heated argument. Alderman Hass was of the opinion that the city should purchase a truck for each side of the river and that it could save a great deal of money this way. Mayor Sullivan reminded the council that if it voted for the proposed increase it would mean $600 per year more out of the taxpayers' pocket and that they should discuss the matter fully before taking action.

After more discussion it was decided to investigate the matter of salaries before taking definite action on increases.

Several taxpayers living in Black's plat asked the council to build sewers in that part of the city. Black's plat was admitted to the city last year. The council decided to investigate.

J. Mitelka asked the council to pave Wisconsin-ave in front of his property. Mr. Mitelka lives on the corner of River-st and Wisconsin-ave. City Attorney Joseph Lefevre told him the city could not do this.

Arrangements have been made for building a gravel and cinder path along the right hand side of highway 15 from Lawrence-st to the city limits.

STATE SENDS
ARTERY SIGNSBlack and White Markers Will Designate State Highways
Through City

Kaukauna—Chief of Police R. H. McCarly has received a notice from the state highway commission at Madison that the new arterial signs will reach Kaukauna in about a week. These new signs will conform with the state law that arterial signs be painted white with black lettering.

Highways No. 15 and 55 will be made arterial highways according to the chief. Arterial signs will be placed all along Lawrence-st and Taylor-st as far as Lawrence-st and along Lawrence-st from Wisconsin-ave to the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad tracks. All of the present signs on Wisconsin-ave will be removed except the one at Desnoyer-st and Wisconsin-ave. The arterial highway will pass over the Lawrence-st bridge and turn left on Second-st and continue one block on that street as far as Crooks-ave. It will follow Crooks-ave to Tenth-st. Arterial signs will be placed at all the streets intersecting this route. The present signs at the corner of Third-st and Main-ave will be removed.

Mr. McCarly said that a control of the wiggawag danger signal on Lawrence-st bridge had been changed from the bridge tenders house to the motor house on the draw and that as soon as the signal sounds now the bridge will open. He warns motorists to watch this as heretofore the wiggawags were in operation during the time it took the bridge tender to go from his house at the end of the bridge to the motor house.

Parking places on the streets will be painted just as soon as the new arterial signs are up.

In the literary events, Nova Redemann won first in arithmetic, second in vocabulary, and third in sewing; and Ethel Weiss, second in dictionary. The Fremont winning average is comparatively high when the size and greater number of pupils enrolled in other graded schools are considered.

NAME BENDER TRUSTEE IN KOBER BANKRUPTCY

M. Bender was named trustee for creditors of Carl Kober, Super Bush, who filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy May 1, at a meeting on Monday afternoon in the office of C. E. Behnke, referee in bankruptcy. Kober listed his liabilities at $2,982.16 and his assets at $1,522.35.

STAGE AND SCREEN

"MILE MODISTE"

Corinne Griffith has scored again. This time it is in "Mile Modiste," the first National production of the delightful Victor Herbert opera. Patricia Scheff distinguished herself in the stage version of this masterpiece. Now it is the lovely motion picture star's turn to score the greatest triumph of her career.

Without doubt Miss Griffith is one of the preeminent comedienne playing on the screen today.

"Classified" gave an inkling of her ability in this direction. But her performance at the Elite Theatre last night proves conclusively that she has a rare gift for light comedy.

As to the play itself, it is the very last word in French chicness. It is smart, lively and unendingly romantic and funny. The fashion pageant is a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

Its colorfulness is matched only by the fashion show in Colleen Moore's "Irene."

The settings are modern throughout. Fil (Miss Griffith) is a modern French demoiselle. Paris is the Paris of today. An American who has visited it recently will tell you that. With the beautiful Victor Herbert score as an accompaniment to the picture nothing finer in the way of film entertainment can be desired.

"JOHNSTOWN FLOOD"

Melodrama with excitement and suspense crammed into every scene, with romance running high and culminating in a romantic climax—that is "The Johnstown Flood," an epic drama based on the great disaster of 1889. The picture is a Fox Film production and opened to an enthusiastic audience at the New Bijou theater yesterday.

Aside from being the most spectacular picture we can ever recall seeing, a charming and appealing human interest story unfolds as the film progresses. This has been cast with popular and capable personalities such as George O'Brien, Florence Gilbert, Paul Nicholson, Anders Randolph, Walter Perry, Janet Gaynor and Paul Panzer.

But the outstanding feature of the production is, of course, the breathlessly exciting effect which has been achieved in reproducing the details of the terrible devastation that resulted when the uncontrolled currents of water swept through Johnstown and its environs. The audience is shown houses and buildings for miles around torn from their foundations, their inhabitants drowning in the swirling floods or clinging desperately to some floating bit of debris.

SKY ROCKET STAR OF THE MOVIES IN BIG WILLIAM BOY

Only a few months ago an unrecognized "extra," William Boyd is the latest "sky-rocket" star of the movies. His record is most remarkable.

Boyd, a strapping six-footer, in less than half a year has been assigned three of the most coveted leading roles offered in filmdom this year. He played the male lead in C. E. De Mille's production, "The Road to Yesterday," and was likewise "Wally Gay," in Metropolitan pictures steel mill story, "Steel Preferred." He was entrusted by C. J. De Mille with the male lead in "The Volga Boatman."

This is the second personally directed Cecil De Mille picture under his new independent arrangements.

Boyd, who has been termed "Wallace Reid type" has been under the De Mille wing for six years, but never had any stage experience being tutored by screen trained and De Mille has brought him along slowly in order that when opportunities of real power arrived he would be able to properly surmount them. He is a native of Ohio, who, left an orphan in Oklahoma became an oil driller, an orange picker and an automobile salesman before he was discovered by Cecil De Mille and given a small part in "Why Change Your Wife?"

"The Volga Boatman," which is now showing at Fischers Appleton Theatre is an adaptation by Lenore Coffee of the original story by Konrad Bercovici. Elinor Fair, Victor Varconi, Julia Faye and Theodore Kosloff are featured with Mr. Boyd in this highly dramatic and thrilling De Mille production of revolutionary Russia.

COAL PRICES IN APPLETON BRING SPECIAL PROBE

Price Difference in Poca-hontas Is Noted in Different Cities

Appleton is one of 26 Wisconsin cities in which coal prices have been investigated by State Senator Max Heck, the special attorney, and D. E. Montgomery, marketing specialist, whose report was presented Wednesday to Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, and Attorney General Herman L. Ekern.

In view of "wide variations" in prices of coal uncovered by the investigation, state officials of Wisconsin propose to conduct hearings to learn whether the prices are justified.

The other cities investigated are Milwaukee, Madison, Sheboygan, Racine, Kenosha, Green Bay, Manitowish, Ashland, Superior, Eau Claire, La Crosse, Portage, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Janesville, Lancaster, Chippewa Falls, Rice Lake and Rhineland.

"The report," Commissioner Nordman announced, "shows a difference of $5.20 a ton in the retail price of prepared Pocahontas coal in Wisconsin during the winter months of 1925 and 1926. It shows that these wide variations amounting to more than 50 per cent of the average retail price occurs between the prices charged on the same date in different cities after allowance is made for differences in freight rates to the several points."

It was stated that other grades of domestic fuel show a "wide variation" in prices which can not be accounted for by freight costs. "Sulphur coke prices were second to Pocahontas with a spread of $3.46 per ton, which is more than 20 per cent of the peak retail price," the report shows. "Anthracite prices were fairly uniform where premium prices did not result from the strike, but due to premiums in some cities were spread over a range of $1.75 on the stove size, and as much as $3.65 on the pea size," it was added. "Elkhorn and Spirit coal prices for domestic size with few exceptions fell within a range of $2.00 per ton. Prices for Southern Illinois egg coal in eleven cities came within a range of $1.10 per ton after making allowance for freight from the mines."

KONZ INVENTS WOOD MACHINE

Contrivance Grooves, Fits and Barks Pieces of Lumber for Boxes

A machine that will groove, fit and bark pieces of lumber to be used in the manufacture of cheese boxes was recently invented by Rudolph Konz and is being used at the Konz Box and Lumber company. Patents on the machine are pending.

The machine increases the production of that particular operation about 50 per cent and one man less is needed in operating the machine. Before the machine had been completed it was necessary to send pieces of lumber through a separate machine to be barked and smoothed and then another machine and a separate operation was used in grooving and fitting together the pieces. The new machine however does all of this work in one operation.

The output of the factory is increased from 3,200 boxes per day to 4,900 boxes. Eight of the machines have been purchased by the Konz Box and Lumber company.

Laundrymen Teach Women To Buy Right Materials

Appleton laundry owners, co-operating with storekeepers and large manufacturers of nationally known wearing apparel, are starting a drive to teach housewives to buy clothing and other washable materials used in the home with a thought to practicality and laundability.

Usually when a housewife gets a dress or a shirt from the laundry which has been damaged or has faded in washing, the first thing she does is to complain to the laundry owner instead of stopping to consider the grade of the material when purchased. "When a shoe goes wrong they take it to the shoe store," said one laundryman, "but when a dress or a shirt goes wrong in washing the first thing they do is call the laundryman."

Four points to be considered in buying fabrics of any kind, according to a list compiled by the National Laundryowners association, are:

Choose materials with a thought as to what use they will get, regardless of price.

Choose fabrics that are to be used repeatedly with some thought to durability and laundability.

Remember the relationship of weave to wear; for the simpler the weave, the longer the life of the material under ordinary conditions.

Remember the danger of purchasing defective or inferior quality of merchandise at bargain sales.

Many people buy goods with only a thought to price, according to one laundryowner, and they pay no attention whether the garments are guaranteed as to shrinking qualities, fastness of colors, to perspiration, laundering and light, or to the quality of the weave. Then when the goods do not wear as they should under ordinary conditions, the owner immediately lays the blame on the laundryman. It is against this charge that laundryowners throughout the United States are making a concerted drive by educating people along the proper line of buying.

Appleton laundries serve approximately 1,000 families per week in either the wet wash or the finished laundry done for individuals each not include the amount of personal laundry done for individuals each week but is only the amount of work done for entire families.

One of the services established by the National Laundryowners association is a research department at the Mellon Institute of Pittsburgh. This department is continually experimenting with various types of fabrics, finding their weaknesses and strength and the good and bad qualities of each. The department also has issued a booklet, "The Selection and Care of Textiles," which is a great help to those doing the purchasing for the family.

The Contra Costa laundry at Oakland, Calif., is considered the oldest power laundry in the United States. It was established in 1810 as a result of the great gold rush at that time.

In 19 there were no women to be found throughout all California and was six months between collection and delivery. As a result of this condition the first laundry was established at Oakland.

Up until 1861 all washing was done by hand but at that time it is known that a carpenter named Charles Matie built a 12 shirt washing machine and attached a 10 horse power motor to it. Thus began the first power laundry.

From this humble beginning back in the gold rush days the number of laundries and other establishments, direct results of the laundering business, has grown until today there are 6,000 general laundries, 500 wet wash plants, 3,000 hotel and institutional laundries, 1,000 linen supply laundries and 2,500 dyeing and dry cleaning establishments throughout North America. It is this great number of cleaning factories that go to make North America the cleanest clothed continent in the world.

According to Appleton laundries, the first three days of the week are the heaviest, as most people send all their work in at that time. In the wet wash laundry 50 per cent of all business is received on Monday while at the finished laundry companies about 75 per cent of all business is received on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

In spite of the fact that washing machines have been sold in countless numbers the past few years, laundry-owners all over the United States have reported an increase in business. Appleton laundries report the same to be true here. Many housewives buy a washing machine and then send their laundry out at least once a month to have it "done up."

During the summer months, many housewives complain that it is too hot to do washing and the laundryman benefits. In winter there is another class of housewife who complains that it is too cold to hang the wash out and again the laundryman profits. Between the two classes the laundry business is kept practically uniform throughout the winter and summer. During the fall and spring housecleaning periods the laundryman again reaps a harvest because most housewives send all their curtains and bedding and many now send rugs to be cleaned.

The largest laundry in the United States at the present time is the Peerless laundry at Los Angeles, Calif. The largest laundry company in a single city is the result of a recent merger of 12 large wet laundries in New York city. The merging of the laundries enables them to give better service with cheaper rates.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR PASSAGE OF PARK BOND ISSUE

Informal Ballot Indicates Council Will Vote Down Program

Unless at least two aldermen change their minds before Wednesday night, the $50,000 bond issue to carry out the improvement program of Pierce park is doomed. It was indicated Monday evening at a joint meeting of the common council and park board at the city hall.

Nine votes, or three-fourths of the council's vote, is required to pass the proposed issue, and only seven aldermen favor the project, an informal ballot Monday night showed.

The meeting was called by Mayor Albert C. Friebe with the hope that an understanding could be reached between the council and the park board but after about two and a half hours of discussion, the two bodies found themselves no nearer agreement than when the meeting was called to order. Several plans for raising money for the park board were offered as a substitute to the bond issue, but they also met with the disapproval of enough aldermen to prevent adoption. The five aldermen opposing the bond issue base their stand on the fact that too many other large projects of greater need confront the city at this time and that they should be given preference first. If there is any money left after this work is accomplished, they indicated they would favor a park improvement program. An informal ballot showed nine aldermen in favor of improvement of the city's parks but not all of them proved a bond issue.

After it had been determined that the bond issue probably would not be passed by the council, an additional $10,000 appropriation to the park board, with the understanding that at least $25,000 be given the board in the city budget next year, was suggested. With the $20,000 which the board now has on hand, board members declared they probably could proceed with their plans. This plan was not favored by the board as much as the bond issue, and the council also frowned on it. Formal action on the bond issue will be taken by the council Wednesday.

SHORT BALLOT URGED AS CURE FOR POLITICS

Crow Tells Y Men's Club Politicians Control Country

The short ballot which will enable the public to investigate the characters of the men for whom it votes was suggested as a cure for political blundering in government by Dr. William L. Crow, professor of politics at Lawrence college, in a talk before the Y's Men's club Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Crow talked on American politics.

He told of a recent New York ballot which was 14 inches long and contained 400 names. In Chicago ballots often are a yard long and contain from 250 to 300 names. The voter probably does not know one man on the list. He either has to stay at home, flip a coin or be told how to vote. He usually hates to stay at home on election day and so he votes by the latter method, allowing himself to be influenced and the politician selects the office holder. One politician is said to have declared he could get John Brown elected with ease by merely getting his name on the ballot. He then said John Brown was his old white horse.

The short ballot was suggested by Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt, and many other well-known men, Mr. Crow said.

Committee reports were read and final plans for the club's part in the annual banquet of the association Friday evening were made. It was announced that C. C. Lane of the Milwaukee Y's Men's club would address the annual meeting in behalf of the local club in place of C. C. Schneider, district governor, who will be unable to come.

PRIM HELPS OSHKOSH COPS RECOVER CAR

Two men who gave their names as Joe and Arthur Allen were found asleep Monday night in an automobile coupe near Chilton. The sheriff of Calumet-co. telephoned George T. Prim, chief of police here. Each of the two had a revolver in his possession and the car had a back seat and extra set of license plates was found in the coupe. Receipts carried by the men were made out to Frank and John Ratchman, and were signed by an Oshkosh physician and his brother.

Chief Prim identified the coupe, a Ford, as the one stolen out of a warehouse on River-st., Oshkosh, on May 12, and a license is the one stolen from another car in Oshkosh. He notified A. H. Gabbert, chief of police at Oshkosh, and the latter went to Chilton Tuesday morning to claim the men and the automobile.

The latter alleges that he saw Breyer leaving his chicken-coop on the evening of April 30, when he was coming home in his automobile, accompanied by Mrs. McLaughlin, and that both recognized Breyer by the light of the automobile headlights. ARGUE DEMURRER TO WRIT HALTING SCHOOL REWIRING

Court Takes Question Under Advisement After Hearing

A demurrer setting forth that Ralph Raschig secretary of the Langstadt Electric Co. has no legal cause for attempting to contest the action of the Third district school board in awarding the contract for rewiring Jefferson and Washington schools to the Art-Killoren Electric Co. was taken under advisement by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday morning after argument by counsel.

The demurrer was served on Benton and Bosser, attorneys for Raschig, by Ryan and Cary, attorneys for the Third district board. It followed a temporary injunction which was secured by Mr. Raschig to restrain the board from making payments on the contract. In the complaint it was alleged that the contract was not awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, that the district electors did not authorize the contract, and that the district had no funds on hand to pay for the work; and that therefore the contract should be pronounced illegal.

In the demurrer it is alleged that under the present district system the board is not required by law to call for bids or to award the work to the lowest bidder. It is further alleged that there is no statute requiring the electors of a district to authorize work by the board and that there is no law requiring that funds be on hand to carry out such a project.

company sold it to an Oconto Falls junk dealer. Police are trying to locate the present owner of the truck.

The YELLOW STUB

by Ernest Lynn

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the yellow stub of a theater ticket.

JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Milwaukee, where the theatre is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer. Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he finds Olga. She faints at hearing she is wanted for murder. Mary out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy and Olga, one night, see the man they are looking for—the man she says got the stub. He escapes, but they identify him by his police photo as IKE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. She breaks her engagement. Jimmy gets a phone call from Olga, saying she has found Jensen. He rushes to her apartment to find her gone. Her disappearance becomes a newspaper sensation.

He is walking with his friend, BARRY OLVIN, when he spies KID DIVIS, a known intimate of Ike Jensen, board a street car. Jimmy trails him through lonely streets and dismal fog to a house. He hears a woman's voice cry out. It is Olga's, and he enters.

Jensen, Divis and Olga are in a room. Jensen goes upstairs to answer the phone and Jimmy creeps in and his Divis with a broken andirons. Then he goes upstairs to overhear Jensen.

Jensen sees him and draws a revolver, which Jimmy wrests from him and kicks down the stairs.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIX
Jensen, snarling in pain, had fallen back, but now he crowded slowly forward toward Rand, his giant paws outstretched, biding his time, waiting to get this mere striping in his clutches.

He ripped out an oath. "You— I'll break you in half . . . break you in half."

And Jimmy, cornered, unable to escape and rush down the stairs to Olga and the pistol he had given her, read murder in the other's tone and cursed himself for a fool for not having kept the weapon himself; cursed himself again and again for having taken this man so lightly whom he had changed to thrash when they had met before.

"Dangle's master, eh?" Jensen sneered. "Well, you won't find any room up here for your fancy steps. He reached out a long arm.

And Jimmy, retreating, was suddenly surprised to find there was no wall behind him, but the doorway to the room Jensen had just left. He felt space behind him, and he stepped back into the pitch blackness of the room.

Jensen, framed in the doorway, was shadowy bulk. He kept on suddenly he was inside the room and the door slammed shut behind him.

"Now, cocky, let's see you try and get out!" He laughed that throaty snarl of his. "One of us is going to see, but it ain't gonna be you."

Jimmy, retreating to the end of the room, beside the window that opened on foggy blackness, said sharply: "Look here, Jensen. If you take another step, I'll fill you full of lead."

"You're a liar. You ain't got no gun. I'm gonna strike a light."

"Jensen, so help me, if you strike a light I'll shoot."

But the other laughed, crazily, and Jimmy realized that he had to deal with a man gone berserk with liquor. "Go on, shoot," he taunted, and Jimmy could hear him fumbling through his pockets.

He thought of making one mad rush, of knocking Jensen to the floor and then grabbing for the door. But what if he should miss the door?

"Hell!" said Jensen, and Jimmy knew he must have discovered he was out of matches. . . . He dared to breathe again.

Jensen said: "No use, son, you're gonna get yours. Plenty of time. I'm right here against the door. Plenty of time to say your prayers."

"Jensen, I'm not afraid of you. Divis is out of the way now. And I can lick you. I licked you once before." He continued, craftily: "Why don't you go down and see what's happened to Divis?"

"Hell with Divis." Again that crazy laugh. His whisky-laden breath reached Jimmy across the room. And then he said something that Jimmy Rand had waited months to hear: "I killed your old man . . . now I'm gonna finish the job."

Jimmy felt sudden cold—like ice against his heart—and with it came a steady calm.

He said, between taut lips: "I know you did, Jensen. I've been waiting to hear you say it before I killed you. I've known for weeks that you did it." He felt that, after all, it made little difference to him what happened, so long as he could bury his fingers in the other's throat and choke the brutal, drunken life out of him.

"You did, eh?" and Jensen's voice was a sneering taunt. "How'd you get so smart? Hell, kill me? Huh?" "You don't believe I've got a gun?" I'm waiting, too, Jensen, waiting to have you tell me what I want to know before I use it."

What a gigantic, crazy bluff, he thought. And what a still crazier thing to be doing—to sit and bandy words with a man who had him trapped in a dark room, patiently waiting for him to make a move, biding his time to get him in his crushing hands.

Still, he thought, and was surprised at the calm with which he was able to contemplate it, if the other was going to get him he would go down fighting, armed with a hatred he had never felt before. Meanwhile, if Jensen would talk—well, he would find out what he could.

"What I want to know," he said, "is who hired you to kill my father. I've known all along you did it. You thought you were shrewd, Jensen, planting that handkerchief in the room. But you didn't intend to leave that stub of a theater ticket. That wasn't so smart. Come on, tell me who was behind it."

"You'd like to know, eh?" There was a crafty ring to Jensen's voice. "Well, I'm not tellin'! Sure, I bumped him off, sure. . . . Called him up at his office. Told him I had news of his father—what's his name?—oh, yes, Thaddeus Rand."

Jensen laughed again. . . . Jimmy thought the sound of it would drive him crazy. "No harm tellin' you about it. You're gonna get yours anyway. Well, he comes right down to the room, see? The room I have in the hotel. Falls for it just like a fish. . . . Pretty smart of me, eh?"

Jimmy's hand twitched. He bit his lip savagely to down the hot anger that was leaping to destroy his forced calm. And Jensen's voice went on, maddeningly, tauntingly: "Yeah, pretty smart of me. I'll say. Comes right upstairs an' knocks on the door. 'Come in,' I says. 'Come in,' just like that. 'Come in,' I says. Huh-huh-ha."

Again that thick, crazy laughter. "So he comes in, an' I says, 'What do you want?' an' he says, 'Are you the man,' he says, that called me up and said he had news of Thaddeus Rand?"

"No, I says, 'You musta made a mistake. You got the wrong room.' 'Guess,' Thaddeus, eh, Rand? Oh, I'm not so dumb."

He paused, and the short silence was again broken with a laugh. Jimmy said, his voice like a steel: "And then what?"

"An' then he turns to go. 'Beg your pardon,' he says. Real polite, Rand. I'll say that for him. He's turned around, with his hat in one hand an' his other hand on the door-knob. An' then I lets him have it—Bang!"

He made a loud smacking sound, of fist on palm. "With the old black-jack, Rand, understand. . . . Good black Made it myself. . . . Best blackjack in th' world. . . . Darna you, you got it away from me that night, didn't you? . . . Never mind, you're gonna get yours in a couple minutes. . . . Plenty of time."

"That's all I turned on the gas and left him. Pretty smart, wasn't it? If don't make no difference about the ticket stub, Rand, because I'm goin' away from here where they won't find me. . . . First of all, though, I'm gonna break you in half."

"Jensen, who put you up to it? Who paid you? The same man that paid you that thousand dollars today?"

"What do you know about anybody givin' me a thousand—oh hell, you heard me on the phone. Sure, 'Take to know, wouldn't you? But I'm not goin' back on him. Pretty good pay, he is. Tell you what, Rand. Come on over here an' let me get my hands on you. Then I'll tell you—while I'm breakin' you apart. Huh-huh."

"Jensen," said Jimmy, in a voice that he did not recognize as his own, "I don't know whether you can understand—you probably can't—but I just want you to know that whether you kill me or not I don't give a damn."

"Ten minutes ago I might have cared—but not now." And then Jimmy himself laughed, a hard, strange laugh.

"Jensen, I feel sorry for you, because—well, just because you can't understand and never would if you lived to be a thousand years. I swore one day, in a morgue in Grafton, that I'd kill the man who murdered my father. I've thought about that many times. I didn't know that when that chance came I was going to find myself in a closed room with a man I can't even see as I'm talking."

"Jensen, you're drunk—but you're not so drunk that you're not afraid to die. And I tell you, that as truthfully as I stand here, I'm not. Not now. You don't understand that, do you? With that—that heavy thing on your conscience that you just told me about, you can't realize that it's possible for a man to look death in the eye and laugh."

"Here's why I'm not afraid, Jensen—because my longing to kill you—to get my hands on your throat—is stronger even than the desire to live. Not melodrama, you understand; just this—that somehow it'll be all right if I go down trying to get even for what you did to my father.

"That's all." He took a step in the dark. "Jensen, I'm waiting for you."

"You are eh? Well, that was a pretty little speech you just made, but it don't mean anything. You think you're not afraid, but you will be—when I get my hands on you an' start breakin' you up."

"Why don't you open the door so I can see you?" Jimmy said.

"An' let you get away? Nothin' doin'."

"Oh, all right. I'll open it. I'd kinda like to see you myself while I'm operatin' on you."

There was a sound made by the turning of the knob, and then Jensen's shape was limned shadow-like in the doorway; dim light behind him from the refracted beam on the staircase.

The opening of the door had been quickly done, but even as Jensen was turning the knob, Jimmy was starting forward, and all his strength was behind the blow that landed flush on Jensen's lips.

The other staggered, caught himself against the door-jamb, and then, suddenly, his arms were around Rand, locking him in a grip that was like a mighty vise.

"You would, would you?" He laughed again, that crazy laugh, right in Jimmy's ear, and the later, his ribs cracking under that terrible pressure, could only struggle feebly to resist.

He was lifted off his feet. Jensen swung him around, then set him down again, and all the time the pressure of those mighty arms was growing stronger.

Jimmy has never been able to explain how it happened, but suddenly

Jensen shifted his grip and his hands were around Jimmy's throat. And in that same fractional part of a second during which his huge hands moved, Jimmy had thrown his weight forward and pushed out against Jensen with his arms.

Jimmy heard the cracking of wood, and the other's hands were loose on his throat.

And then the stair rail gave way, and Jensen went crashing through. (To Be Continued)

McTangle

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

Sorry, old boy, I had to come home and leave you but I know that you did not need me and some business has come up in connection with an expedition I am joining that needed my attention immediately. I know I am breaking the news to you rather abruptly but not even to you, old friend, could I confide the secret intention I have had for over a year of joining, if possible, the Mantel expedition into Africa in search of some sign of the traditional pygmy life.

I'm glad, however, I was over at your house and saw you, Jack, for this last time without either of us knowing it was a farewell visit. Good-byes of any kind are such chastity things.

I think that at last Jack, you are realizing the responsibilities of your position. You will not need me as a balance wheel in the future. Seeing Paula, too, has cleared up a great many things in my mind that I had been pretty hazy about, one of which is the confirmation of my theory that in this world most of us have another chance to rectify any mistake we have made. That seventy times seven we are asked to forgive means not only forgiving our enemies and those that have hurt us, but ourselves and our own mistakes as well.

If, after we have made these mistakes, we could always remember this and not grow discouraged and give up, but begin again, the world would be much better.

I was indeed very glad to see Paula, although Jack, I'm not sure it was the sensible thing to open the doors of memory so widely as her stay in this city for a considerable length of time must do. Perhaps, however, you have both grown stronger enough not to be in any way swayed by the old sentiment—the old thrill, of course I know you have only seen her once except that time you took her through the mill, but I also know that you cannot keep minds apart although continents separate bodies.

If, however, she is really and truly someone she can think of as the father of her children, I hope she will marry, for then she will at least be comparatively happy. Paula Terrier has more of the mother in her than the wife.

I'm glad that Leslie is to be back before Paula leaves. It seems to me that those two women were destined to be friends, although, according to conventionality, it would seem the last thing possible. There are some memories that can never be blotted out.

The other day when Mrs. Atherton was with you looking over the mountains, I went into the city and found Paula with the children. Little Jack did nothing during my visit except to talk of his "ownest mover." It must have just broken Paula's heart and yet, I could see that she was very proud of his allegiance and loyalty to Leslie.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE TWINS AND THE WHIFFET MEET SOME STRANGERS

But it did shrink—the little Whiffet's purple pompadour suit did. It shrank until the Whiffet looked like a fried sausage that had burst out here and there in spots through its tight jacket. His hands and feet and head and ears looked miles too big for his clothes, but he was so happy because the beautiful purple color hadn't faded, that he never bothered about the shrinking.

So off they started again to find his shadow.

"I lost it when I was crossing the stile," said the Whiffet. "It couldn't get over, I guess, as it was pretty steep."

So to the stile they went, to look for the lost shadow.

And there sat Grumpy, Grumpy, the ground squirrel, right on the stile.

"Hello," said the Twins. "What are you doing, Grumpy?"

4 SQUADS IN CONFERENCE TRACK MEET SATURDAY

Ripon, Blues Favorites In First Annual Contest Of New Athletic League

Many New State Records Expected to Be Set at Whitening Field Saturday

With Ripon and Lawrence colleges as the chief contenders and Carroll college of Waukegan expected to cut into the point melon in a number of events, the first annual track and field meet of the new Wisconsin-Indiana Intercollegiate athletic association will be held here Saturday afternoon at George Whitening field, under the auspices of Lawrence college. Competing schools are Ripon, Carroll and Lawrence from Wisconsin and Lake Forest from Illinois. Last year the three Wisconsin colleges met for the state title, which was won by Lawrence, so that the meet this year also will decide the state title. Ripon has been beaten by Lawrence in a dual meet. Lake Forest is expected to count heavily in only one event, the mile.

The Blues beat Ripon by only two points last year, the relay deciding the meet and this year the Dennyman are much weaker, especially since the loss of McConnell, the star in the 100 and 200 yards sprints. Because of these facts and the showing of several new sensations Ripon is a slight favorite, with Lawrence's hopes based on the points Carroll can take from the Red men.

Ripon is confident of a victory, though hard fought, because of her strength in the dashes and hurdle events, reports from the Red school say. The sensational showing of Meyer, who has been undefeated this year in the 100 and 200 has added considerably to Doehling's title hopes. Meyer ran the century in 10 flat against Oshkosh Normal and the furlong in 23.3, though not hard pressed. In addition he is said to be a sure point-getter in the broad and high jump, and is anchor man on Ripon's crack relay team, which Red fans have hoped to set a new state record here.

In the dashes Stair and Hyde of Lawrence and Stacy of Carroll will furnish opposition with the Bluesmen the best chances to upset Meyer. Even a finish of two-three for Lawrence hopes would cut down the effectiveness of his win on the point. In the low hurdle the Hyde twins of Lawrence may outstep the Redman as they have been turning in great marks this year. The relay should be the feature event of the day with both Lawrence and Ripon presenting crack teams, both conceded to be record-breakers, and a fighting finish of the highest caliber as well as a hard race all the way through is in store. Both teams may break the state mark.

The high hurdles should be another hot race, with Hope, Ripon jump star, meeting Lomas of Carroll. Lomas set the valley conference high school record here last year while running for West Green Bay and has not lost a race for Carroll this year. He beat the best of Northwestern colleges, Uaperville, the Chicago college and Lake Forest in a quadrangular meet Saturday. Hope should have an easy time in the pole vault and should take a place in the board jump. In the weights Ripon has Schneider, who broke the college record last week with a heave of 127 feet 6 inches and LaVallie. Other good men are Capt. Murray in the dashes, LaMotte and Slamm in the hurdles and Rose and Ollman whom the Red fans have slated for first and second in the javelin throw.

Besides Lomas, Carroll has Blahnick and Murlock, two of the best 440-men in the conference, who finished first and third in the quad meet. Hyne and Johnson, star weight men and Dugan, one of the best high jumpers in the state, Lawrence will meet these men with the Hydes in the 440, Hipke, Artz and Heideman in the weights and perhaps McConnell should be able to step out again in the high jump. Hope should win this event, but Mac and Dugan will be near the top. Searing of Lake Forest, who won the mile in a dual meet with Lawrence, will enter this event and the half-mile with a chance of winning one or both. Menning will give him plenty to worry about in the half.

LaMotte of Ripon finished second to Christopherson, a crack man, in the high hurdles last year and may better Lomas and Hope. He

HELPFUL HINTS TO GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO.

GENE SARAZEN—LEARN BY WATCHING EXPERTS

I also make this suggestion to all who are aiming to improve their game: any time you go out to watch a star in action, don't merely follow the flight of the ball. Watch how the star addresses the ball, how he grips the club, how he takes the club back and how he follows through. Note the manner in which he plays to the green and the way in which he hits his shots.

You will find yourself assimilating knowledge of his game so rapidly you will have to discard most of that knowledge and use only that which can be fitted into your own game. That's what I have done and am doing constantly.

I began caddyding when I wasn't more than nine years old. However, I never had a club of my own until I was 13. George Hughes was at that time caddymeister of the Appawamis Club of Rye. He gave me a brassie one day, and for the rest of the season I put in many an hour hitting the ball with that club.

Before I got possession of the brassie I used a shiny stick with which I struck at every object in sight.

LOCAL GOLF CLUB WILL STAGE N. E. TOURNEY IN JULY

Large Entry List Expected at Annual Meet at Buttes des Morts, July 21-24

Buttes des Morts country club of Appleton, the latest addition to the ranks of the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf association, will play host to dozens of golfers from the entire northeastern section of the state from July 21-24 inclusive, according to Heber H. Pelkey, secretary. The club invited the association to hold its annual tournament here and it has been accepted. About 13 clubs, every large group in this section of the state are members. The River-view Country club of Appleton is a charter member.

Each club should have a large entry list as the meet is open to all club members and is divided into flights. By this system, players of about equal ability are grouped in one flight and play to a flight championship rather than having the stars and fair players in the same competition. D. P. Steinberg is chairman of the greens committee of the local club and Paul Wesco heads the tournament, rules and handicap committee.

The local course, declared by such stars as Leo Diegel, Walter Hagen, Billy Sixty and Bernice Wall, who have played it in the last year, as one of the finest and most beautiful in the country is ideally located and the ideal course for the meet. The step of bringing the meet here is said to be a preliminary to bringing the state meet here in 1927. The local club invited the state golf association here this year, but the event already was promised to the Ozaukee country club. However, the state body is said to look favorably on the local invitation as it desires to hold a tourney in the northern part of the state and have been looking for a place in the Fox river valley. Kenneth Dickinson, present state amateur champ, is a member of the Buttes des Morts club.

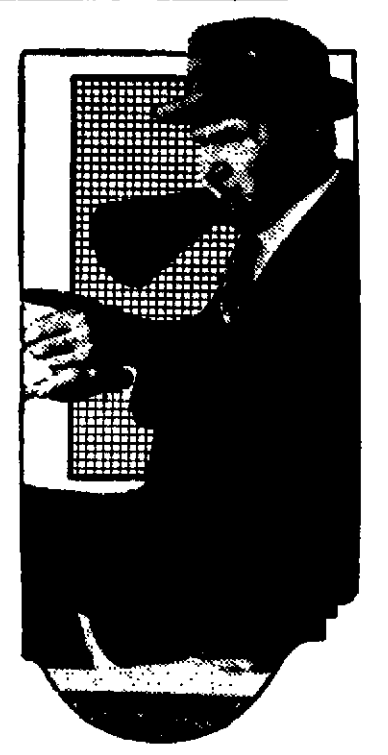

KIMBERLY GOES GOOD IN OSHKOSH BATTLE

Kimberly—Kimberly ball club lost a heart-breaker to Oshkosh Sunday that ran into extra innings and was not decided until with the bases full and two out Weed of Oshkosh was hit by the ball for the third consecutive time and forced in the winning run. Poca on the mound for Kimberly showed plenty of stuff, holding the heavy hitting Oshkosh team to a few scratch hits, and getting out of the punches with ease. Providing that Poca can keep up the pace that he has struck, Kimberly's pitching end of the game will be well taken care of. Poca is a younger brother of Squaw Poca, who burned up baseball in this territory with his phenomenal pitching for the last four years. With the stuff displayed on Sunday, Arnold Poca bids well to follow in his brother's footsteps. With the jinx out of the way, the Kimberly team is determined to take a fall out of Fond du Lac when they appear at Kimberly Park next Sunday afternoon. A few errors were noticeable, but they as a rule were not costly, and were made on easy tries, due no doubt to the first game of the season. Kimberly has three successive games at the local park, before hitting the road again, and these three games should show a world of improvement. Temporary bleachers have been erected, so that Kimberly park is in readiness to handle the biggest crowd since the old State League days. Sunday, May 23 the Kimberly outfit will clash with Fond du Lac in the local park at 2:30. The week following on the 30th of May they meet the Neenah team at 3 o'clock. Then on the next day Appleton meets Kimberly for the first time of the year. This game is being called at 5 o'clock because the Kimberly mill will run on this day as will the mills in Little Chute and Combined Locks. By calling the game at 5 o'clock local fans will have an opportunity of seeing it.

New York—(P)—Phil McGraw, Detroit and Stanislaus Loeza, Chicago fought a draw (10). Jack Zivic, Pittsburgh, and Willie Harmon, New York, fought a draw (10).

Rowing followers at Cornell are depending on Coach "Pop" Lueder to put the Big Red shell up near the front this season. Lueder has had his charges out on Lake Cayuga for several weeks and reports state the Ithaca paddlers are coming along nicely. Lueder's big objective, of course, is the annual Poughkeepsie regatta in June. Photo shows "Pop" megaphoning instructions to the oarsmen during a practice spin.

KAHN MAY MAKE GREEN BAY HOME

Badger Lightie Champ, Who Battles Ryan at Bay Friday, Likes City

Milwaukee — Harry Kahn, star lightweight of Wisconsin, may become a resident of Green Bay in the not distant future. Harry has always had a liking for the Bay town and is seriously thinking of settling there, but hardly before he gets through with the ring, although if certain things happen he may do so sooner.

Kahn is booked to fight Jimmy Ryan of Des Moines, Ia., at Green Bay on May 21st and it promises to be quite a battle. It is reported from Iowa that Ryan is very much improved since he boxed around here, and he will need be, if he expects to hold his own with the Milwaukee southpaw.

If Mr. Ryan can defeat Kahn he can get all the matches in the middle west that he can take care of. That is the one thing Jimmy is aiming at: he knows that if he can make a showing against Harry he can travel to Detroit, Toledo, East Chicago and other places and show his wares.

Milwaukee fans, however, are backing Kahn to win and they are going to the northern city strong to back up their views.

A quick knockout by Kahn would be the means of placing him in line for some big matches in Milwaukee. He would also like to get a crack at Billy Portfield, providing the weight question can be satisfactorily adjusted.

The Green Bay club is offering a good card of prelims in addition to the windup and it is expected the house will be sold out the night of the fight.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE OPENS WEDNESDAY

WEEK'S GAMES
Wednesday — Post-Crescent vs. Interlakes.
Friday — American Legion vs. Bankers.

The 1926 Y. M. C. A. Twilight baseball league will open Wednesday afternoon when the Post-Crescent crew winner of second place in 1925, clashes with the darkhorse of the loop, the Interlake Pulp and Paper Co. squad, a newcomer in softball circles Friday afternoon will see the feature game of the week, when the weakened American Legion crew, 1925 city champs, meet the Bankers, one of the strongest squads in the 1925 Twilight league. The game should be a hard battle throughout. The loop schedule was to begin Monday evening with a game between the Meyer Press and "Y" crews, but this was postponed at the request of the Pressmen.

FOURTH WARD SQUAD BEATS FIFTH WARD

The Fourth ward baseball team whipped the Fifth ward squad, 6-3 Sunday afternoon in a hotly contested battle on the Fourth ward diamond. P. Gelbke was the winning hurler while H. Berge occupied the mound for the losers. The Fourth ward crew won the tilt by bunching hits for 5 runs in the third inning and adding the final tally in the fourth frame. The Fifth warders scored in the second, fifth and ninth. Gelbke fanned 15 and Berge sent 7 to the bench via the strikeout route. The Fourth ward team would like to schedule games with teams around Appleton this summer. Managers should write to Edward J. Starks at 320 E. Maple-st or phone 2328.

Dayton, Ohio — Bryan Downey, Cleveland, knocked out Eddie Welsh Dayton (1).

Ancient Jack Quinn Hurls Macks To Win Over Detroit, Allowing Tygers Five Hits

Giants Score Four Times in Eighth to Stop Cincy's Win Streak of Six Games

Chicago — (P)—Old John Quinn, 23 years in the professional game, as he is known in baseball continues on his youthful pitching way for the Philadelphia after 41 years of life and 22 years in the professional game.

Quinn allowed the Detroit Tigers six singles, three of them coming in the ninth inning for his victims only run. He won 5 to 1, because his mates pounded Stoner for five runs in the opening inning.

Monday Quinn allowed the Detroit Tigers six singles, three of them coming in the ninth inning for his victims only run. He won 5 to 1, because his mates pounded Stoner for five runs in the opening inning.

The New York Yankees carried their second winning streak of the season to six straight with the Chicago White Sox on the losing end, 5 to 3. The Yankees were outbut but scored in bunches.

Tris Speaker's Indians piled up 19 hits to smother Washington, 12 to 5. Spurgeon, Speaker and Joe Sewell leading the offensive.

Cincinnati's winning string was ended at six games by the New York Giants who jammed across four tallies in the eighth. Carl Mays pitched all the way for the Reds. Pittsburgh downed Brooklyn in 12 innings, 7 to 6. Warner tripled in the final frame and Wright and Cuyler were passed. A long sacrifice fly from Traynor, but settled the issue. Another ninth-inning rally which scored two runs, gave the Chicago Cubs a victory over Philadelphia, 7 to 6, after Okan had made the Phillies lead look safe with

Nobody can laugh this off

PRINCE ALBERT has been such a revelation to men who thought that they were pipe-happy that three pipes are smoked today where one was smoked before. That's a fact, Men, just as sure as little bees buzz and polliwogs have tails.

And you don't need a degree from Oxford to figure out the reason: The Prince Albert process cuts out bite and parch pos-i-tive-ly and Prince Albert quality makes it the National Joy Smoke. That means you can cram this fine old favorite into the bowl of your jimmy-pipe and turn on all five tubes . . . go to it any way you please . . . slow or fast, morning to midnight!

Yes, sir! P. A. is the taste-teasingest, tongue-pleasingest tobacco that ever tumbled into a briar. Its smoke is the coolest that ever sifted into your system. Its fragrance keeps honeysuckle and your favorite rose fighting for second place.

Put it on your pad now: You've got a date this very day with the smoke-shop that hands out P. A. sunshine in tidy red tins. Decorate yourself with the degree of P. A., and get the highest degree of pleasure out of that old pipe.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

STAR SPRINTERS IN BIG CONTEST

Western Conference Marks Expected to Fall When Dashmen Clash at Iowa City

Iowa City, Ia.—Before the tape in the 100 and 220 yard dash is broken at the Western Conference meet, a group of fine sprinters will surge with rhythmic strides down the track on Iowa Field, May 20. At least five men who can beat even time in each event will be sent off together by the gun-shot of starter W. J. Monilaw.

Back in 1922, when conference athletes last swarmed on Iowa Field, Big Bill Hayes of Notre Dame took advantage of the new tenth-second watches to clip the record down to 10.7-10. Then last spring, with the times equipped with one-hundredth second watches, the dusky DeHart Hubbard approached the mark by four-hundredths of a second.

The athlete who sets the new mark must tie the world's record of 9.9-10 for tenth second timers will be in vogue again this spring. And the sports sharp are looking for G. B. Hester, the Michigan star at least to equal the time for he has been caught in 10.7-10 already.

Hester, although unbeaten is not the only conference sprinter worthy of lengthy mention. There is the speedy Bob Pepper of Indiana, credited with ten seconds and a half in the 100 yard dash, and a Nebraska sprinter that marvel ran 10.9-10 at Drake. Orville Roberts of Iowa, third place winner last year and Greenhagen of Minnesota have ten second marks. McKinney of Chicago, Hale, Great-house and Yarnall of Illinois, Spencer and Harmon of Purdue, Kelly and Leachinsky of Michigan are possible finalists. And it would not be to forget Grimm and Irwin of Ohio State, Tannehill of Northwestern, Everingham of Iowa, O'Shields of Minnesota, and McGovern of Wisconsin.

Just about the same field will meet in the 220 yard dash but here the flashy Hester fades into the background before his teammate Leachinsky, who, in a dual meet equalled the conference mark of 21.3-10 held by Wilson of Iowa. Pepper of Indiana steps up towards the front again with the time 21.5-10 and Irwin, the Buckeye veteran has sprinted a 21.7-10 race. Hode of Illinois, Spencer of Purdue, Roberts of Iowa, Grimm of Ohio State, Kennedy of Wisconsin and Mickleberry of Chicago can make at least even time. Roberts last year raced a fine 21.3-10 may be able to repeat.

Milwaukee Ring Sensation Meets Russ Leroy Monday

Milwaukee—Billy Bortfeld, Milwaukee's sensational youngster, who is hailed as a second Richie Mitchell, will make his bow as a writer-weight at the Auditorium, Monday, May 24, when he will meet Russ Leroy, the crack Fargo puncher Bortfeld, who has put on considerable weight in recent months thinks there is a great chance in the ranks of the writers and he hopes before the end of the year to work up to a championship tilt with Mickey Walker, the champion.

In Leroy he is tackling one of the toughest fellows in the 140-pound class. Not only is the North Dakota plainsman a hard hitter but he is fast and clever and a rushing tearing scrapper. He gave Pinky Mitchell, the 140-pound champion, the scrap of his life two months ago, and he has already boasted that he will stop the Milwaukee pride in five rounds. Of course this brings a laugh from the Bortfeld stable as Billy carries the wallop of a mile in his right mitt and he says if anyone is going to Poppyland it will be Leroy.

Bortfeld, who was an amateur only a year ago, has had a spectacular rise to the top of the heap. He has knocked over nearly every opponent he has ever met, and with a little more experience should become one of the greatest writers in the business.

Frank Mulhern, matchmaker of the Cream City A. C., which will stage this headline attraction, promises to back up his windup with the best set of preliminaries obtainable. He has already signed up some of them and will announce his complete card in a few days.

The show will be staged at popular prices with $3 for ringside seats. As usual a big block of the best pasteboards will be put aside for out of town fans, who can make reservations by sending money order or certified check direct to the club's office.
